

LOCUM PALLIATIVE MEDICINE SPECIALIST WANTED

We are looking for a palliative medicine specialist to cover leave for around three weeks between December 2020 and January 2021, with an opportunity for ongoing work in the region.

The locum position involves

- Working full-time or part-time (at least three days per week)
- Providing specialist palliative medicine across inpatient palliative care, hospital consultation and community consultation settings in Albury Wodonga and the East Hume (northeast Victoria), and
- Supervising advanced trainee in palliative medicine, palliative care resident and palliative care nurse practitioners.

The locum specialist will be supported by

- A growing multidisciplinary palliative care team led by a palliative care manager,
- Palliative medicine colleagues both locally (Mercy Health Albury) and in Melbourne (St Vincent's Hospital Melbourne), and
- Transport and accommodation will be provided.

The locum specialist will be

- A Fellow of the Australasian Chapter of Palliative Medicine (FACHPM) and registered as a specialist palliative medicine physician with the Medical Board of Australia
- An expert in palliative medicine with excellent clinical knowledge and communication skills
- Experienced in working within a multidisciplinary team and with other generalist palliative care providers to deliver high quality patient- and family-centred palliative care
